

Korea | Seoul

“MP3 Kidnapping”

There's a rumor ... In the streets of Seoul at night a serial killer is hunting and kidnapping people who listen to loud music on their headphones. He's therefore called the “MP3-Killer”. It actually happened to a friend of a friend. On a rainy evening, he had a date with his girlfriend. He accompanied her part of the way home and then set off himself for home. Suddenly, he thought of the MP3 kidnapper; his girlfriend always listened to loud music on her headphones. He became terribly worried about his girlfriend, who didn't answer her cell phone.

“Everything's all right”, he said tried to convince himself as he ran like a madman through the rain back in her direction. Luckily, he then spotted her at the far end of a small alley that led to her flat. Relieved, he wanted to make a joke of it and scare her. So silently he crept up behind her. All of a sudden, a pickup truck shot out of nowhere and his girlfriend was quickly pulled inside and disappeared. He ran after the truck as fast as he could, but it drove off. All that remained of his girlfriend was her MP3 player. He never saw or heard from her again.

So don't listen to loud music on your headphones at night!

Copyright: Goethe-Institut Korea, 2012