

Excerpts From Elie Wiesel's Nobel Peace Prize speech:

- "I swore never to be silent whenever and wherever human beings endure suffering and humiliation. We must always take sides. Neutrality helps the oppressor, never the victim. Silence encourages the tormentor, never the tormented."

Excerpts From Elie Wiesel's Night:

- "Never shall I forget that night, the first night in camp, which has turned my life into one long night, one long night, seven times cursed and seven times sealed. Never shall I forget that smoke. Never shall I forget that smell."
- "To forget the dead would be akin to killing them a second time."
- "For the survivor who chooses to testify, it is clear: his duty is to listen to the stories of others, to bear witness, and to remember."
- "I will never forget that moment when I realized that my father was no longer my father. He was just a man, an old man, who had lost all hope."
- "We must never forget that we have the ability to change the world."
