(Inside Manila) Film enthusiasts, the German Film Week is set to come to Manila for the second time and is prepared to feature the best and latest in contemporary German cinema!

For its second year, 12 German feature films will be screened, including the Berlinale film from highly-acclaimed Filipino director, Brillante Mendoza.

"The film week has attracted an important and relevant number of audiences throughout the country, and has helped promote the activities and advocacies of the German Cultural Center," German Film Week's site read.

Ticket for the movies are priced at P100 while Medoza's film is at P200. The event will run from September 27 to October 5 at the SM Mall of Asia and SM North EDSA.
