2nd German Film Week at SM MOA & SM North Edsa | Sept 27 to Oct 5, 2017

Posted by Arvin Elia at 4:48 PM

An interesting lineup of films that presents the breadth of contemporary German cinema makes up the German Film Week 2017 organized by the Goethe-Institut Philippinen. The films will be screened in two (2) cinemas: SM Mall of Asia (Pasay City) & SM North Edsa (Quezon City) from September 27 to October 5, 2017. Following its successful launch last year, the festival will once again offer a diverse selection of films for audiences, in their goal of promoting German language and culture.

The festival draws film fans and students from all over the Philippines, as well as filmmakers, press, and industry leaders. This year's slate of films were carefully selected among the latest releases in Germany, some of which have already been receiving numerous awards in international film festivals. "We are truly excited to unveil this year's films and new voices to Philippine audiences," said Dr. Ulrich Nowak, the director of the Goethe-Institut Philippinen. "Whether mainstream, romantic comedies, or micro-budget indies, we made sure our festival attendees will be entertained and pleased."

Adding to the German contemporary films, this year's German Film Week will also feature a work of acclaimed Filipino filmmaker, Brillante Mendoza. His film, Captive, will be screened during the week-long festival. Captive has been screened at a previous Berlin International Film Festival, the prestigious Berlinale.

On one of these screenings, a Film Appreciation Session will follow wherein audiences will get to meet and speak with the multi-awarded director. "The Brillante Mendoza screening is an addition to this year's program. Our goal at the institute has always been to promote cultural exchange between Germany and the countries we support. And this is one way to achieve that goal—to share German features and highlight Filipino creativity," said Dr. Nowak.
