Back to Basics: A Drawing and Art Appreciation Workshop Inspired by National Artist Fernando Amorsolo

This weekend, the Yuchengco Museum is holding two events in honor of National Artist Fernando Amorsolo. The first is a seminar examining the life and works of the artist, with a pragmatic series of lessons in art production and art history to encourage a deeper understanding of the early years of Philippine art, while teaching drawing techniques at the same time.

The three-part lesson aims to equip its students with drawing skills and techniques and, using Amorsolo as an inspiration, teach them to unpack meanings of selected masterpieces and analyze the artist's concept and create their own drawings.

The workshop, facilitated by Avie Felix and Oliver Ramos, starts this Saturday, March 10, with parts two and three happening on March 17 and 24, from 2 to 5:30 p.m.

The Yuchengco Museum is located at RCBC Plaza cor. Ayala and Sen. Gil J. Puyat Ave., Makati City. For workshop prices and reservations, contact info@yuchengcomuseum.org or (+632) 889-1234.

6 events to go to this weekend of March 9 to 11 - CNN Philippines

For those unable to commit to a three-day workshop, the Yuchengco museum is holding a talk on Amorsolo's life and work with esteemed art critic and historian Cid Reyes and Sylvia Amorsolo-Lazo, the daughter of the late National Artist.

Cid Reyes is an art critic and artist who has been awarded "Art Critic of the Year" by the Art Association of the Philippines (1979); has had 17 solo exhibitions, and has authored several books on National Artists, including Arturo Luz and Napoleon Abueva. While Sylvia Amorsolo-Lazo, served as her father's apprentice and assistant since 1961, and is the authenticator of her father's works. She serves as president of the Fernando C. Amorsolo Art Foundation, which she and her siblings founded in 2002.

The talk is happening on Saturday, March 10, from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

The Yuchengco Museum is located at RCBC Plaza cor. Ayala and Sen. Gil J. Puyat Ave. Makati City. For workshop prices and reservations, contact info@yuchengcomuseum.org or (632) 889-1234.
