

COLOMBOSCOPE
interdisciplinary arts festival

sea change

CURATED BY NATASHA GINWALA

www.colomboscope.lk | info@colomboscope.lk

Facebook/colomboscope
Instagram/colomboscope
Twitter/colomboscope.lk

CLIMAVORE: On Mangroves & Mudflats

COOKING SECTIONS

PERFORMATIVE DINNER INSTALLATION

26th January 2019

8:00 pm - 9:30 pm

Rio Complex

60, Kumaran Ratnam Road, Colombo 02

Cooking Sections (Daniel Fernández Pascual & Alon Schwabe) is a duo of spatial practitioners based out of London with links to Spain and Canada. Since 2015, they are working on multiple iterations of the long-term site-specific CLIMAVORE project that sets out to envision seasons of food production and consumption that react to man-induced climatic events and landscape alterations. On the occasion of Colomboscope 2019, a dining set revolves around a mangrove system, where participants are invited to sit among the tree branches, stilt and knee roots. A CLIMAVORE menu has been developed to reflect on the new man-made seasons we are confronted with in order to speculate on other futures for coastal inhabitation.

Limited capacity. Prior registration is required.

To register for programming please contact:
info@colomboscope.lk

(Attendance on first come first serve basis)

With support from

