PRESS INVITATION
NETWORKING CONFERENCE

The Goethe-Institut Cairo cordially invites you to join its networking conference on professional development of teachers in Egypt. The event at Goethe-Institut Cairo on 19th November 2018 brings together experts and stakeholders of teacher’s education in Egypt in order to boost collaboration in this field.

The Goethe-Institut Cairo supports numerous Egyptian-German educational collaborations in the field of teacher’s education. The conference “Professional Development for Teachers for the Egyptian Educational System” will offer a platform for educational experts to discuss and further teacher’s education.

Teacher education is a top priority of the new strategy launched by the Egyptian Ministry of Education and one of its main pillars. National and international institutions, companies and experts are cooperating closely with the ministry to pursue integrated programs to enhance teacher education and qualification.

The conference is one of Goethe-Institut's events held within a series of measures to provide a platform for introducing best practices from Egypt, Germany as well as other countries on upgrading the skills of teachers, exposing them to alternative methods of education, and using new international trends and technologies.

The various disciplinary perspectives are reflected in three working sessions. In each case, several speakers are afforded the opportunity to succinctly introduce their activities on professional development of teachers and to share their expertise on the main theme of their session. Thus, they are creating a differentiated base for the subsequent discussion.

The working sessions are therefore headlined, “What does the Egyptian educational system need in terms of teacher education?”, “Qualifying Teachers – Areas of focus, challenges and cooperation opportunities”, and “Evaluating the Impact of Teachers Education Programs”.

Besides this input from renowned experts from the educational sector, the conference will further profit from the expertise of representatives from... international and governmental Institutions. Among many other institutions, the British Council, UNICEF, GIZ, the World Bank, and Al Alfi Foundation have announced their participation in the conference.

Goethe-Institut Cairo cordially invites you to join this networking conference.
