

ThemenRaum is a continuous programme by the Goethe-Institut in Jordan. Temporarily orchestrated physical and digital rooms offer an opportunity to experiment with new event formats and thematic productions.

THEMENRAUM – TECHNOPOCENE

New technologies shape almost all aspects of our lives: They expand our possibilities of communication, simplify our work processes and allow for new forms of artistic expression. At the same time, they do not cease to confront us with questions and challenges that call for unconventional approaches.

We are living in a time of radical change, as machines begin to make decisions, data determine who we are, and the future becomes our present.

The event-series “Technopocene” covers different aspects of this “post-normal” condition. It combines artistic with scientific perspectives as well as a variety of formats and encourages experimentation and innovative thinking in dealing with the challenges and opportunities of our time.
