

photo: Colourbox.de

WORK IN PROGRESS:

GERMAN REUNIFICATION, 30 YEARS LATER

Thursday, October, 1st - 20:00 IDT / 19:00 CET
Live from Israel via Zoom in English

October 3, 1990 marks a major turning point in German history. This event is usually referred to as German reunification, but even the terms have become disputed, as has much else about this event. After three decades we still ask: What place should the legacy of the GDR have in the Berlin Republic, and does this legacy pose a challenge to accepted narratives of Jewish-German history?

To discuss these questions and other related ones we invited four speakers with diverse biographies and perspectives to partake in what in itself will be a sort of commemoration of the Wende, maybe of the most fitting kind.

Greetings: Dr. Susanne Wasum-Rainer, German Ambassador to Israel
Dr. Carola Dürr, Director Goethe-Institut Israel

Panel discussion with:

- Marion Brasch, Writer and Radio Journalist
- Prof. Dr. Dorothee Wierling, Historian, Hamburg University (em)
- Dr. Max Czollek, Writer, Activist, Co-Editor of "Yalta - Positions on the Jewish Present"
- Dr. Axel Doßmann, Historian, Jena University

Moderators: Dr. Sagi Schaefer (Tel Aviv University), Dr. Ofer Waldman (Free Journalist)

Due to COVID-19 regulations, the event will take place via Zoom, please sign up here.

