

Miguel Rezzani

Miguel Rezzani is a resident of Hamburg, Germany. He has a Master's degree in Foreign Language Linguistics with a focus on "Deutsch als Fremdsprache" and "Sprache in Erwerb und Kommunikation" at the University of Potsdam, as well as teaching "Deutsch als Fremdsprache" in Buenos Aires, Argentina. In Goethe-Institut Buenos Aires, he worked as a German language teacher, both for adults as well as young learners. He also taught German in various schools. He currently works as a freelance instructor of regional training courses for Goethe-Instituts in Germany and as Kursleiter at the Goethe-Institut Hamburg. He also tutors online professional development courses (Deutsch Lehren Lernen - DLL and German for Teachers). Since 2015, he has also been working internationally on various regional and national projects of the PASCH initiative "Schools Partners of the Future", which include, amongst others, the topics of ecology and environmental protection.