

GOETHE-INSTITUT GLASGOW OPEN HAUS

The Goethe-Institut Glasgow is situated in a listed building in Glasgow's West End. It is approx. 5 minutes by foot from public transport links and local shops, and in close proximity to Kelvingrove Art Gallery and Park and the University of Glasgow.

The Goethe-Institut Glasgow is an ideal venue for small to medium events. Our traditional townhouse at Park Circus offers an events hall and meeting rooms of various sizes which are all technically equipped to support your needs.

You are also welcome to come and have a look at our facilities, without obligation.

EVENT HALL

Our event hall is often used by us for film screenings, discursive events and receptions. The space will be provided without furniture or technical provision unless requested prior to your visit.

THE 'OUTHOUSE'

Separate from the main building, the Outhouse sits in the back garden, away from traffic and passers-by.

Space: The Outhouse is a low, single-storey structure with an interior divided into two connected spaces. The first space has three casement windows, two next to the outer door, and one at one end of the building. There are bars over the windows and two of the windows can be opened. The wall facing the outer door has no openings and is finished in white subway tiles that bear traces of earlier structures. The ceiling has been opened to the wooden rafters in both spaces. There are three steps up to the second space, which is smaller and suitable for projections/film screenings and VR galleries – the single window is fitted with a blackout covering which darkens the room considerably though not totally. The walls and floor are unfinished concrete.

Dimensions:

260x515cm = 13,39 m² and 245x360cm = 8,82 m² = Total Area: 22,21 m²

Ventilation: Two of the windows can be opened.

Light: Both rooms have overhead lighting and infrared heaters.
