Neformat — media about excellent Ukrainian independent music

Kseniia Yanus is the grant manager and a journalist at Neformat.com.ua

A member of the bands Dahau Holidays, Orfos and Klimentovo Pole and co-founder of the micro-label Nava Records.

The main interest is industrial, gothic and experimental electronic music, as well as literature-centric music projects.

Neformat offers expert information about the Ukrainian underground scene to those who are interested to know more about it.

Neformat can be trusted as our editors and freelancers have many years of experience and are personally involved into this scene. We also pay much attention to the standards of professional journalism.

We collect, store and distribute information about Ukrainian independent music to develop a large, strong community around it.

The underground is often perceived as a marginal phenomenon in the eyes of regular audience in Ukraine. We want to change this image, to make this music visible and appreciated as a source of innovations for future pop culture.

Our editorial office works online only. Because of this, we can rely on each other and delegate some of our work, so that we have time to volunteer and rest, time to deal with our emotions which is so important in this war. We work from different cities and countries, but most of the editorial staff is currently based in Uzhhorod.

NGO "Neformat Ukraine" is registered as a non-profit public organization in accordance with the legislation of Ukraine.

The main source of funding for the editorial office are charitable contributions from our CEO and our readers club. All profits from advertising and concerts go to the development of the organization as well.

Our audience

Music lovers

Young people, 18-35 years old, men and women, more often live in Kyiv or another large Ukrainian city, could move to other safe cities in the west of the country, including distant villages, or abroad.

They earn 12-40 thousand hryvnias, typically in IT, creative industries, office work. Could have lost their job completely or their income has dropped significantly. They could become soldiers or volunteers.

They spend money primarily on food, utilities, clothes, rent, family. Spending on entertainment and creativity (concerts, festivals, collectibles, merch, sports, video games, gastronomy) has decreased or moved back for better times.

Young people, 25-40 years old, more often men, more often live in Kyiv or another large Ukrainian city. Music for them is not just a hobby, but a serious interest, or even the main activity. They play in a band or have a solo project or work in clubs, as art directors, SMM technicians, sound engineers, lighting technicians, etc. During the war, their income could decrease or drop down to 0, they could find or be looking for an additional source of income. Music could be pushed to the background due to concern for relatives, oneself, social affairs and the need to find money for living.

However, our main activity is the creation of high-quality journalism about Ukrainian music

Since the full-scale invasion, interest in Ukrainian culture in general, and music in particular, has grown both within the country and from abroad. Since March, we observe a surge in the activity of musicians, namely, the number of Ukrainian releases per month has doubled if compared to pre-war times.

Culture does not wait for the end of the war, it must live here and now.

We continue highlighting the diversity of Ukrainian music

russia is trying to destroy our culture

russian state media do not hide their intentions to destroy Ukraine and everything Ukrainian. Quotations from the article of the propaganda publication by RIA Novosti:

Что Россия должна сделать с Украиной

ого сектора"*, найденные в бывшем расположении

Название "Украина", по-видимому, не может быть сохранено в качестве титула никакого полностью денацифицированного государственного образования на освобожденной от нацистского режима территории.

Денацификация неизбежно будет являться и деукраинизацией — отказом от начатого еще советской властью масштабного искусственного раздувания этнического компонента самоидентификации населения территорий исторических Малороссии и Новороссии.

*I don't follow the news. Just returned from the vacation and I'm fine.

Ukrainians ignore Russian content

Almost 60% of Ukrainians no longer listen to Russian music. Such data emerges from a recent survey by the sociological group "Rating".
