“Experience the art of bread making – one loaf at a time”

The Goethe-Institut Manila invites everyone to celebrate the art of making bread in a bread baking workshop entitled, “Brottag: Knead to Know”, this June 09, 2023, Friday, 6pm, at the Goethe-Institut Manila Library.

The bread baking workshop will be done by Richard Manapat, founder of Brie and Rye Bakery, one of the many bakers who has taken on the unique challenge of learning German techniques of baking - no easy feat in the Philippines. Richard will demonstrate how to make 6 German breads, where after each demonstration we will give away free samples for the guests to taste.

“I’ve always been fascinated by European bread. In 2011, I decided to teach myself how to bake since there weren’t any bakers I could learn from in the Philippines. It was tough in the beginning because baking conditions in a tropical country are vastly different from Europe. However, with a lot of research and experimentation, I developed my own techniques and recipes based on traditional European ones. That’s when I discovered German bread, and I fell in love with the variety of breads (especially rye) available”, says Manapat.

The event will be open to the public and slots to the workshop will be given on a first-come, first-served basis on the day of the event. Everyone in the venue can watch the workshop but only a total of 50 guests will be able to get a free sample of the bread. Aside from the bread baking workshop, we will also give away small tokens of bread to participants who would join us in our mini bread trivia game.
