The printing of this book was made possible with the kind support of the Delegation of the European Union to Namibia.

Every child should own a hundred books by the age of five. To that end, Book Sprint gathers creative professionals who volunteer to create new, Namibian storybooks that anyone can freely translate and distribute. “What happened?
Why are you so sad?”
asks Mum.

The background is a solid yellow color with several light green, hand-drawn style swirls scattered across it. In the bottom right corner, there is a large, stylized red shape representing a lion's head, with a small circular detail on its side. The text is centered in the upper half of the page.

“Lisa and Peter said that I look like a lion because of my hair...” says Kira.

“Your hair is beautiful,”
Mum says.

“But I look like a lion!” Kira cries.

"Kira, I have a great idea!"
Mum says.

“Let us go to Betty’s hair salon and you can choose the hairstyle you like!” says Mum.

"Oh yes!" says Kira.

Betty's
Salon

“How about braids or puffs?
We can add colorful beads to them,” suggests Betty.

The background is a solid red color with faint, light red spiral patterns scattered across it. There are four crop marks, each consisting of a small circle with a crosshair, located at the top center, bottom center, left center, and right center of the page.

"I don't know... to be honest.
I like my hair the way it is...
But I don't want to look like a lion," says Kira.

"Kira, your hair is beautiful!"
Betty says.
"It is your crown! Let me surprise you!"

"Next day at school."

"WOW! Kira, you have a beautiful hairstyle...
it looks like... like...,"
Lisa says.

"Like a crown!" Peter says.
