The Goethe-Instituts in Kenya, Rwanda, & Ethiopia, and the Goethe Centres in Uganda and South Sudan are organizing a series of exhibitions named Networks of Belonging to support Sudanese artists exiled in the East Africa region.

Following an open call, five artists based in each of the five countries were selected: Hussein Merghani Hussein (Addis Abeba), Juma Moris (Juba), Hamza Tirab (Kampala), Mohamed Ibrahim (Kigali), and Sannad Sharif (Nairobi).

The ongoing civil war in Sudan has displaced many artists. In collaboration with Goethe-Institut Khartoum, the Networks of Belonging project responds to this by fostering local artistic networks, professional exchange, and sustainable structures of inclusion. As part of the joint venture, each of the selected artists is granted a production budget to develop new artworks and include them in the exhibition.

The Institute in Khartoum, Sudan, remains closed since 2023 until further notice. The Goethe-Institut Sudan's cultural program activities, however, continue and are being coordinated from Cairo. This creates virtual and in-person spaces for Sudanese partners, artists, and cultural professionals where intergenerational and interactive dialogue and exchange among Sudanese communities can take place and creativity can be fostered.

The Network of Belonging exhibitions are scheduled to take place between July and November 2026. The exhibition in Nairobi by Sannad Sharif will open on 2nd July 2026.

Hussein Merghani Hussein
(Addis Abeba)

Hussein Merghani Hussein's specialty lies in watercolour paintings, drawing inspiration from the Sudanese environment, and focusing on the intricate dance of light and texture.

His true resonance lies within the realm of traditional watercolour paintings.

Sannad Sharif (Nairobi)

Sannad Sharif's work explores themes of resilience and transformation, shaped by the loss of his studio and artworks during the war in Sudan. He continues creating with improvised materials, avoiding traditional forms and political slogan, but instead focusing on pure artistic expression.
