UNIVERSITY BRIDGE PROGRAMME

The University Bridge program is a preparatory course for studying at universities in Germany, organized by the Goethe-Institut in cooperation with the German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD) and partner universities in the federal states of Nordrhein-Westfalen, Brandenburg, and Thüringen.

The program prepares students in language, subject-specific German, and academic culture. It is designed for high school graduates who meet the University Bridge admission requirements, with the aim of enabling them to gain direct admission to bachelor's programs in MINT fields (Mathematics, Information Technology, Natural Sciences, Engineering) or Economics at partner universities in Germany.
