

Goals

You get to know the students in your partner class.
You can identify skills needed for the top careers of the future.
Language Learning Goals
You can research and report on different careers and skills desired by employers.

PREPARING FOR CAREERS

Think back to your career brainstorming.

What careers most interest you?

What is the outlook for those careers in your community in Germany or the U.S.?

How about globally?

Which careers are the fastest growing?

YOUR ASSIGNMENTS

Explore the World Economic Forum's The Future of Jobs report through their infographics and answer the following questions individually. Plan to discuss your responses with the rest of the class.

1.1

Do any of your career interests align with the fastest-growing jobs worldwide?

1.2

How do you think your ideal career will change in the next five years?

Top 10 Job Skills on the Rise

Review the skills identified by the World Economic Forum’s Future of Jobs Report that are projected to be most in demand.

Complete the two tables below for two different skills and prepare to share your answers with your class and partner class.

Is there one in-demand skill that you have already developed? If yes, what is it?

How did you learn this skill?
(Was it taught in a specific class?
Did you learn it from working or from family, for example?)

Why do you think this skill is in demand by employers?

Is there another in-demand skill that you would like to develop? If yes, what is it?

What kinds of classes or tasks might help you develop this skill?

Why do you think this skill is in demand by employers?
